SUSAN CRANDALL

Susan Crandall's latest novel is a saga of 1920s barnstorming America featuring a World War I pilot, a daredevil debutante and a Midwestern farm boy. She is the award-winning author of ten other titles, including Whistling Past the Graveyard. She still lives in Noblesville, Indiana, where she grew up and met her husband. They are the parents of two and grandparents of four.

MARDI JO LINK

After graduating from Michigan State with a degree in journalism and agriculture, Mardi Jo Link took a job as a crime reporter for a daily paper in New England. She and her husband returned to Michigan to raise their three sons on a farm, which later resulted in her memoir, Badass, a Michigan Notable Book. Her latest memoir follows eight women to Drummond Island for one weekend a year over two decades.

NATIONAL READING GROUP MONTH AUTHOR CELEBRATION

Tuesday, October 13 @ 6:30 p.m.
Berkley Public Library
3155 Coolidge Highway
Berkley, MI 48072

Please call 248-658-3440 to pre-register or go to http://goo.gl/2oHwbP. Seating is limited to 75.

The two authors will take part in a Q&A moderated by local author Willetta Heising, past president of WNBA Detroit. Books will be available for purchase from Book Beat of Oak Park, with signing to take place after the program.

2015 Official Sponsors and Friends

2015 Premier Sponsor
Sourcebooks—An Independent Vision (Premier Sponsor)

2015 Silver Level
Crown
Hogarth—An Imprint of The Crown Publishing Group

2015 Bronze Level
Oneworld Publications

2015 Friends of NRGM
American Booksellers Association
Andrew Carnegie Medals for Excellence in Fiction & Nonfiction
Baker & Taylor
The Booklist Reader (Booklist, American Library Association)
Edelweiss (Above the Treeline, Inc.)
Ingram Content Group
Net Galley—Feed Your Readers
Reading Group Choices—Selections for Lively Book Discussions
Reading Group Guides—The Online Community for Reading Groups