

AN OUTDOOR ARMY: THE CCC IN MICHIGAN

Thursday, May 9th; 6:30-8:00 p.m.

In the 1930s 100,000 men from the Civilian Conservation Corps occupied more than 120 camps throughout the state.

They fought forest fires, built state parks, and planted 484 million trees. Learn how this Great Depression-era program transformed our landscape & natural resources in ways that can still be seen today.

Presented by Hillary Pine, The Northern Lower Peninsula Historian for the DNR & Michigan History Center.

Registration begins April 9th