The First 100 Years of Jewish Detroit: 1850-1950

Wednesday, May 24, 2023

6:00 p.m. on Zoom

In the span of a century, Detroit's Jewish population grew from 51 people to more than 80,000. Join Archivists Laura Gottlieb and Robbie Terman from the Joan Meyers Jampel Center for Michigan Jewish Heritage as they explore why Jewish people flocked to Detroit and how they created a thriving community. To learn more about the Jampel Center, visit mijewishheritage.org

This free event will take place on Zoom. Please register in order to receive an email with the link to join on the day of the program.
